

Even the Guest Speaker was an “old boy”. Phil Beadle, former teacher of the year, journalist and author gave up his time to return to his old school to give some wise words of wisdom to those young men who received awards on the night. Phil praised the school highly and told his young audience that providing they set their sights as high as possible and were prepared to work for what they wanted Kelsey Park would support them fully and prepare them well for life in the adult world.

We have another exciting term in store for us and I am particularly looking forward to the run up the Christmas with the Remembrance Day Parade, the Christmas Carol Service and the collection of goods for the Christmas Hampers that we take round for the needy during this festive time of the year.

There are lots of things going on all the time at Kelsey Park so why don't you get involved and join us? If you want to be a part of the College you can contact us via this web site by clicking on the link below or by emailing me on info@kelseyark.bromley.sch.uk .

I look forward to hearing from you.
